

Tommy Ross-Williams

Intimacy Coordinator

Introduction

Tommy Ross Williams (they/them) is the UK's first Intimacy Coordinator whose practice was supported by Arts Council England, having been awarded the Developing Your Creative Practice grant to look specifically at intimacy in performance.

As an Intimacy Coordinator, Tommy has worked across stage and screen with BAFTA nominated filmmakers, Sundance Winners and Academy Award Nominees. They currently lead on the West End's Brokeback Mountain.

Their HETV and Feature Films credits include Smothered for the BBC and Follow Me for Catalyst Films and they've collaborated with established ICs such as Yarit Dor and Louise Kempton.

As a Jewish queer nonbinary person, they are especially passionate about developing and supporting intimate queer content that expands the representation of queer relationships and marginalised identities.

Tommy's London based, is available to work across the UK, America (green card holder) and Europe. They hold a full, clean driving licence and sit on the Intimacy Coordination committee for BECTU as IC Registry Rep.
